

The Ode

They shall not grow old, as we that are left grow old.
Age shall not weary them,
nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning
We will remember them.

- From Laurence Binyon's poem For the Fallen

poppytime.com